SAFETY • HEALING • GROWTH

2008-2009 ANNUAL REPORT

Susan B. Anthony Project: Strong, thanks to our supporters

With your support, Susan B. Anthony Project has been helping survivors of domestic and sexual violence rebuild their lives for the past twenty-seven years. We could not have done this without you.

Clients rely on Susan B. Anthony Project staff to answer the crisis line 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. They count on the SBAP advocates who listen and support them while they live in our shelter and transitional housing programs. They trust the SBAP advocates who help them navigate the court process and secure orders of protection. They are comforted in our support groups and appreciate that their children are well cared for by volunteer babysitters.

Children also come to Susan B. Anthony Project for support and guidance as they rebuild their fragile lives wounded by domestic and sexual violence. Schools welcome SBAP community educators to teach children of all ages about healthy relationships and unhealthy relationships.

You have made all of this possible. From July 2008 to June 2009, your gifts accounted for 41% of our annual budget. Thank you.

We have had many challenges over the past twenty-six years. We've grown in small steps — adding to our services, building our staff, moving into our new Counseling and Advocacy Center. You have supported and encouraged us from the beginning and have continued to do so during these challenging economic times. We are so appreciative.

Looking forward, we know our crisis line will continue to ring every day, and victims of domestic and sexual violence will look to us for strength. Thanks to you, our generous supporters, we will be here for them. It's comforting for the Susan B. Anthony Project Board of Directors and staff to know we are not alone in our work. You are standing with us.

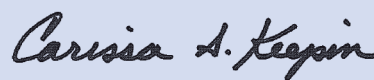

With sincere appreciation,

Barbara Spiegel
